

News & Notes – November 19, 2007

Robert Bates and thirteen UH organ students visited Dallas on November 13 to play and study organs built in a variety of styles. This included a large instrument at University Park Methodist Church, built in the French classical style of ca. 1750, and a small organ at the Meadows Museum of Fine Arts on the Southern Methodist University campus, built in Portugal in 1760.

Paul Sikes, DMA Music Education candidate, will present a paper entitled “Practice Strategies Advocated by Secondary Music Teachers” at the 61st MENC National Biennial In-Service Conference in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
